Draft Personal Development Plan

Project

Next semester is M11. The research project will be the main focus. I will try to get into an automotive project, since this is an area of great interest. I would like to develop my Design and Research Processes competency, since it is a research project.

Modules

Descriptive and Mathematic Modeling is competency in which I am lacking. It is not exactly clear to me how much freedom I have with choosing modules, but this an area that could use some improvement.

Another area of interest is User Focus and Perspective. I would like to gain extra expertise within this field, especially on user experience.

Time management will have to be done better. I will look for a method to make it easier for myself to plan and get work done in time.
